Photography is a popular hobby. The ubiquitous camera phones have enabled the true democratization of this technical art. This visual language is also a potent tool for chronicling the reality around us which has immense practical importance in many academic disciplines. Established in 2012, the roots of the college's Photography Cell (PCVC) can be traced back to the fervour crystallized around a photography exhibition during the college's diamond jubilee in 2011. Every year, our photography exhibitions showcase the latent talent of stakeholders on a public platform. To encourage the beginners, photo contests for students are the main attraction. One of these episodes was hosted in 2015 at the prestigious Academy of Fine Arts, Kolkata. Our short-term training programmes for students are designed to deliver theoretical ideas along with hand-on-training in the field. Our photo tours allow exchange of ideas across a range of genres in photography. We have also documented special programmes organized by the college including the Inter-College State Sports and Games Championship in 2014. Our publications include the travel photo book Darjeeling Monsoon Diary (2015) and several exhibition catalogues, including India: The Land of Diversity (2016). The patronage of the college administration and the enthusiasm of the staff and students have sustained us so far. Porichay Shilpa Pradarshashala—the state-of-the-art exhibition gallery in the campus, is at the very heart of our future plans to reach out to a wider range of participants.
